

BACKGROUND

Yemen is at the beginning of a long process of transitioning from eight years of humanitarian emergency towards stabilisation. Yemen ranks 23rd on the 2024 Global Terrorism Index, improving its rank by one spot compared to the 2023 ranking.

Yemen became a GCERF partner country* in 2023, and the investment began in 2024. GCERF signed USD 2 million grants with two local civil society organisations (CSOs) to implement aspects of the investment strategy, which contributes to the community-based reintegration of children who were involved in the armed conflicts.

GCERF pioneers a unique model of investment designed to promote a whole-of-society approach and ensure the sustainability of our programmes. Under this model, GCERF was invited by the Ministry of Planning and International Cooperation (MoPIC) to cooperate with the relevant government agencies, civil society organisations, and donor representative in the internationally recognized Government of Yemen.

This collaboration provides strategic direction for the programmes, ensures results, and progressively inherits ownership of funding community-level efforts to prevent violent extremism. GCERF's work is aligned with the Yemen Humanitarian Plan (2023) further reflected in its investment strategy in Yemen.

GCERF'S INVESTMENT STRATEGY IN YEMEN

GCERF's investment strategy outlines a comprehensive approach to address the drivers of violent extremism and guides civil society organisations in designing their programmes.

The investment focuses on:

1. Strengthening trust and tolerance among communities and leaders to foster community resilience and a renewed sense of purpose.
2. Increasing livelihood resources, leading to the economic resilience of vulnerable at-risk youth. Supporting rehabilitation and community-based Integration of Former Children Associated with Armed Forces and Groups (CAAFAG) in their communities.
3. Awareness-raising on PVE for communities to take local actions to prevent violent extremism.

STORY OF CHANGE

Restorative Justice and Reintegration of Juveniles

This case involved four children in conflict with the law who were arrested for theft from a residential house. Following police investigation, prosecution, and referral to the Juvenile Court, the victims sought to file a civil compensation claim for the stolen items and property damage.

Under the Multi-Sectoral Child Protection Services activity, a GCERF partner, Deem for Development Organization intervened to manage the case in line with the best interests of the child, while ensuring victims' rights were respected. Mediation sessions were conducted with the children's guardians and the victims, applying a community-based restorative justice approach. This mechanism allowed the children to return to school instead of remaining in detention and treated their case with utmost respect and dignity for their human rights.

Ultimately, the core reason for the theft was severe economic vulnerability. Through the support of the Office of Social Affairs, compensation was secured despite the families' severe economic vulnerability. A spokesperson states, "we wanted justice, but reconciliation helped everyone move forward without destroying these children's future".

The Juvenile Court approved the children's release, allowing them to return to school and reintegrate into society. This case demonstrates how child protection services can prevent prolonged detention, promote restorative justice, and safeguard children's futures.

GCERF'S VALUE PROPOSITION

GCERF'S UNIQUE MODEL OF INVESTMENT PRIORITISES:

Community-ownership and localisation: We invest in trusted grassroots civil society organisations that prioritise the needs and grievances of communities most affected by violent extremism. Many of these organisations have never received international funding before.

Sustainability: Our programmes involve all groups of society and strengthens trust between government, civil society and community members to build stronger, more resilient societies. This ensures that initiatives and structures continue to be relevant and effective.

Robust monitoring and evaluation processes: Our multi-layered monitoring and evaluation system, operating locally and globally, provides continuous feedback on programme effectiveness, identifies areas for improvement, and ensures objectives are consistently met.

Knowledge sharing: Our global network of civil society organisations working on PVE facilitates the exchange of good practices and lessons learned, fostering collaboration and enhancing the effectiveness of interventions. We also share our experiences through our participation in various conferences, publishing of articles and research papers in reputed journals to advance the understanding of PVE.

Capacity strengthening: We strengthen the capacity of civil society organisations to manage large-scale grants and implement effective initiatives, while also enhancing government capacity to develop comprehensive, holistic strategies to prevent violent extremism.
