Violent Extremism in Somalia: Drivers

Unemployment

Lack of economic opportunities for youth provide fertile ground for recruitment by violent extremist groups.

Climate change

Frequent climate change induced droughts disrupt livelihoods and increases the likelihood of conflict over scarce resources.

VE Narratives

Indoctrination campaigns by groups like Al-Shabab lure disgruntled population to join them.

3rd

On the Global Terrorism Index 2022, with 308 attacks and 600 deaths in 2021.

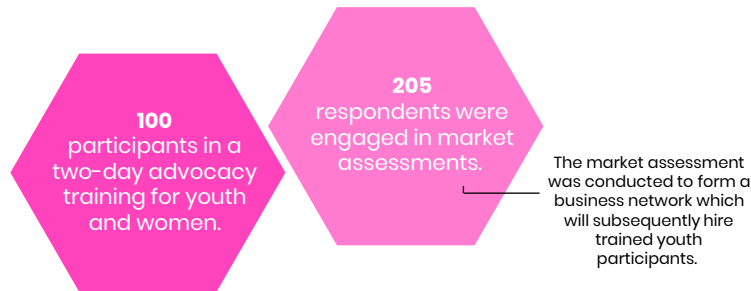

Current Programming: Systems Approach

Community: Destigmatising mental health and trauma therapy, creating alternative narratives using a multimedia approach, and catalysing and fortifying a robust and inclusive civil society.

Individual: Providing vocational support and access to trauma therapy, promoting critical thinking skills and increased knowledge of civic duties and governance.

Story of Change

Mariam Abdullah* is a 25-year-old woman from Beled Hawo. She is a widow with three children and her husband died seven years ago. She is also an entrepreneur selling decoration materials to sustain her family. Her business is not very profitable but it enables her to afford basic needs for her family. She did not attend secondary school and was forced to marry at a young age by her parents.

Her tenacity to provide for her family caused Mariam to be chosen by BHWP to participate in their Youth and Civic Empowerment Programme. She is one of the most participative beneficiaries during trainings and acquired a smartphone to participate in the WhatsApp discussions after sessions.

“Before this training, I wanted to travel to America and Europe to seek a better life, but this training has completely changed my motives and empowered me. The civic education and advocacy training helped me understand my rights as a citizen and the platforms available for me to participate for the welfare of the community. I will use the knowledge and skills gained from the trainings to do civic engagement and be an active community human rights defender. At the end of the programme I will be able to help myself and community by having our own women-led organisation and reduce vices in the community and fully participate in decision making and be in active politics.”

“We are delighted to launch the implementation of the [SWERC] project in our district and I hopefully believe it will impact our community lifestyle and living standards positively”

- Mr. Mohammed Farah, Head of District Humanitarian Affairs

GCERF's Added Value

GCERF focuses on building institutional capacity e.g. CSOs, government agencies, and community engagement forums

GCERF invests in building a PVE-focused community of practice with CSOs, government agencies, and experts

Communities are at the forefront of project design and implementation, and the programme works with existing community structures for sustainability

All project design and implementation are done in coordination with nationally-aligned, locally-led programmes

GCERF connects CSOs, communities, and other stakeholders with government and security actors, leading to better coordination and relationships

GCERF's consortium model and capacity-building approach enables us to work in remote areas
